Evan Gambit-23 Kt-B 5. Two Enights Defence-28., B-K B 4. Two hights Defence—S., B—E B 4.

Trochigorin's rejoinder in the Evans Gambit is quite unexpected. Px Kt was expected, in which case Steinitz could have sacrificed the Rt on R 3 for two pawns by replying P—Q Kt 3. Now, however, black is probably forced to play 23. B—Q B 2, and the intended sacrifice cannot take place, breause P—Q Kt 3 would leave the bishop en prize.

The move in the Two Enights Defence was generally looked forward to by local experts. It seems that all white can obtain now is a draw, although it will require a great amount of skill. It would take columns to give the leading variations, in many of which white gots the worst of it. Things, however, are rather complicated at present. The next few moves will make things more clear.

Princeton Students Who Will Try to Win Monore in the Events.
Franction, feb. 57.—Joseph Roddy, captain of the Mott Haven team, and Trainer McMasters are preparing vigorously for the Mott Haven intercellegiate games. All the available and promising athletes in the college are being brought on and trained for the various events. It has been decided to put a larger seam on the track this year than in previous years. It is believed that Princeton's failure to en-top the other colleges in track schotches has been largely due to her policy of deciding on crack athletes who would take first and second place. It has been noticed that of late years Yale and Harvard have run up their scores by bringing is larger numbers of would take first and second piace. It has been noticed that of late years Yale and Harvard have ran up their scores by bringing in larger numbers of third and fourth men, and not relying entirely on their firsts and seconds. Moreover, this policy is forced on Frinceton to some degree this year, since hat year gradualing class and more recant events having deprived her of many of her first class men, so that, white structure is the second of the second second with a principal second with a second secon Honday is the following events, Capt. It was a disastrous day for nearly all but the Dalys—Uncle Bill and his brother Michas. They made a sweep of four races in succession.

The first race was a facer for cinci players who made Anomaly favorite at 8 to 8 against. Anomaly led all the way to the last half forwho made Anomaly lavorile at 8 to 5 against. Anomaly led all the way to the last half furlong, where Harrisburg, a 5 to 1 siot from Gloucester, collared the leader and von by a neck, Anomaly beating Marty B, hal a length neck, anomaly beating Marty B, hal a length for the place.

Shotover was backed as a pretty sure winner, at short odds on, in the second race; but M, J, Daly's Gloster, at 18 to 5, who make a poor showing on Thuraday, set the pacea little too hot for the favorite at the finish and won handly by a length and a half. Shetover getting second place, a length in frost of Orion, Judge Burke questioned Daly about the peculiar running of his horse. Daly replied that Gloster was short of work on the Previous day.

Gloster was short of work on the previous day, a rather lame excuse.

M. J. Dair had another surprise in store for the third race, in which Sallie Harper was considered a sure winner, the mare going to the post a 5 to 3 on favorite. Daly's Defaulter begsidered a sure winner, the mare going to the poet a 5 to 5 on favorite. Daily Defaulter begging at 5 to 1. Defaulter made the running in the first furiong, and sutfootes the field to the finish, winning by a length and a half from Sandstone, 8 to 1. Milton third, and the favorite last.

The Dailys came to the front again in the fourth race, for which John Dowd's sprinter Sunday was supposed to be a moral at 5 to 3 on. W. C. Daily's Dailsyrian had the second call at 7 to 5 against, Adamant, at 30 to 1. making up the trio that started. Sunday led, with Dailyrian hanging to ols neck up to the last furiong, when Dailsyrian forged absend, winning handlip by two lengths, Adamant a poor third.

The talent rallied on Clitter II, to win the fifth race, Servia having a strong backing as accorded choice at 8 to 1 against, while a law who at 11 telleved in the luck of the Dailys back of fifth race, Servia having a strong backing as accorded choice at 8 to 1 against, while a law who at 11 telleved in the luck of the Dailys back of from 50 to 1 to 50 to 1. The race resulted in the rankeet tumble of the day. Climax headed Servia at the turn into the homestretch, Glitter II, beating Servia six lengths for the place. Blient, favorite at 6 to 3 on, and Lizzie Fonso, a 10 to 1 shot, ran a dead heat in the last race, and the owners decided to run it off. Lizzie Fonso was first choice in the run-off at 10 to 7 on, Sijent going at even money. Lizzie Fonso led all the way, and won by a length and a half. Summary:
